

GREGORY H. FRIEDMAN INSPECTOR GENERAL

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

Gregory H. Friedman has served as Inspector General of the United States Department of Energy since October 1998. Mr. Friedman was nominated by the President on July 29, 1998, and confirmed by the United States Senate on October 21, 1998.

Mr. Friedman has also served as Chair of the Audit Committee and member of the Executive Committee of the President's Council on Integrity and Efficiency since May 1999. In March 2002, Mr. Friedman was named by the Comptroller General of the United States to a 3-year term on the Advisory Council on Government Auditing Standards.

Mr. Friedman has been with the Office of Inspector General since 1982, assuming roles of increasing responsibility. From January 5, 1998, to October 21, 1998, Mr. Friedman served as Acting Inspector General at the Department of Energy, and, from 1997 to 1998, served as Principal Deputy Inspector General. Mr. Friedman served as Deputy Inspector General for Audit Services from 1994-1997.

Mr. Friedman started his Federal career in 1968 at the U.S. Army Audit Agency where he served in senior auditor positions prior to joining the Federal Energy Administration (FEA), one of DOE's predecessor agencies, in 1974.

Mr. Friedman received a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Temple University and a Master's degree in Business Administration from Fairleigh Dickinson University. In 1979-1980, Mr. Friedman was selected as a Princeton Fellow in Public Affairs and spent the academic year in residence at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School for Public and International Studies. Mr. Friedman has served as a guest lecturer on audit matters and governmental affairs at Princeton University and George Washington University.

Mr. Friedman has received numerous awards during his Federal career, including special commendations from the U.S. Army Audit Agency, the FEA and the DOE. In 1993, Mr. Friedman received the Departmental Meritorious Service Award. In 1994, he was the recipient of the Meritorious Presidential Rank Award. In 1996, Mr. Friedman received the Presidential Rank Award for Distinguished Executive.

December 2002