Advancing Government Accountability

Volume VIII, Issue 21

February 2012

Message from the President

We are moving along with more education opportunities as well as more opportunities to serve. Bob Wells, Teresa Allen, and myself attended the SLIMR in Kansas City in January. It is a great opportunity to see people in the same profession with the same concerns and get some really good ideas for solutions. If you have any interests in this type of opportunity please talk with me or any one of your CEC members so that we may help you get into a position to be able to attend this type of events.

Rick Findley

The executive committee be meeting Feb 2nd talking about filling positions that are still open on the CEC. I am sure you will see a summary. If anyone has been thinking of being a part of the leadership team and would like more preparation please contact me or any other of the chairs so that we can help them get the preparation. If anyone would like to nominate someone else for any of the chairs I would be glad to contact them also.

Please be aware of the educational opportunities coming up and hope to see you there.

Again thanks for everything you do. Keep up the good work.

Rick Findley (rickfindley@yahoo.com)

Good News for Accounting Graduates*By AccountingWEB Staff

Accounting students graduating in 2011 earned starting salaries that exceeded those in nearly every other field except engineering and computer sciences.

Overall, the average salary for 2011 college graduates was $41,701, but accounting majors earned an average of $50,500, which is up 3.7 percent from the class of 2010, according to the 2012 National Association of Colleges and Employers \(NACE\) survey.

"For these graduates, the top industry – in terms of number of hires – is accounting, tax preparation, bookkeeping, and payroll services, with an average salary of $47,050," the survey said. "[The] highest-paying employers of accounting majors, however, were securities, commodities, and financial investments employers; the average salary in this industry stands at $53,910."

"Entry-level accounting and finance jobs tend to see steady growth from year to year," said NACE spokesperson Andrea Koncz. "They might see small decreases when the market goes down, but starting salaries in those professions typically grow at a steady rate."

Entry-level employees in New York might have seen bigger gains since the numbers reflect a national average, Koncz told FINS, a financial jobs website owned by the Wall Street Journal's Dow Jones Company.

Business majors as a group earned an average of $48,144. Business administration/management majors earned $43,600, and finance majors earned $48,300, on average, the survey said.

Graduates in 2011 did slightly better across the board than their 2010 counterparts, as starting salaries rose 2.3 percent. Computer science grads saw the greatest percentage change from 2010, at 4.1 percent; starting salaries averaged $60,594. Topping all graduates were new engineers, earning $61,872 as their starting salary average.

The top five industries that paid the highest starting salaries to 2011 bachelor's degree graduates were:

- 1.) Securities, commodities, funds, trusts, and other financial investments
- 2.) Electric power generation, transmission, and distribution
- 3.) Non-depository credit and related activities
- 4.) Computer systems design and related services
- 5.) Business support services

NACE plans to publish information on starting salaries for the class of 2012 in April.

Earn Your CGFM in February, Examinations are Free!

Don't miss the opportunity to take the CGFM Examinations and earn your CGFM at the next Intensive Review Course event in February. AGA is offering a two-day Intensive Review Course on Monday, Feb. 27, 2012 and Tuesday, Feb. 28, 2012 and an opportunity to take CGFM Examinations on Feb. 29–March 2, 2012. The cost of the course is only $279 for qualified participants, and it offers 18 CPE hours. Special Bonus: The CGFM Examinations are offered at no cost to course attendees.

This course is designed as a supplement to previous preparation for the CGFM Examinations, so this is a perfect opportunity for those individuals who have already attended GFM training courses or have been preparing by using the CGFM Study Guides. Enrollment is limited and participants must first apply and be accepted into the CGFM Program, so don't delay.

Ozarks Chapter AGA—Community Service Corner

We have had a busy winter! At the Holiday party we collected a trunk full of toys-thanks for all your kind donations. We did have to keep an eye on some of the guys at the luncheon viewing looking closely at some of the toy cars and motorcycles. It was a fun time and a good opportunity to give to the community. Also, Teresa Allen is collecting toiletries for the Women's shelter.

Next up is fund raising for the annual American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. Relay will be inside at the E-Plex this year on June 1st. It is a fun time to do something for your community and get to know your fellow AGA members better. We start raising money with a silent auction at the Spring Membership Meeting. Watch for information on the auction items and plan to bring your money or checkbook to the meeting. Last year we had seven team members and raised $3,670.41. We had some extraordinary givers and did some bake sale fundraisers before the event at our workplaces. We also did a balloon pop for the little kids at our booth during the walk. Frankly, that did not raise a lot of money but we have a lot of the supplies to use again this year and we had a lot of fun doing it. We "camp out" until about 11:30. It is awesome to be a part of the walk and root and whistle for the survivors walk. It is also touching to see the luminary walk. If you are interested in joining or helping us in some way please contact me at 841-3346. If you know someone that wants to promote his or hers company there is a sponsorship level that would include their name and small logo on all the walker's tee shirts. Thanks, Nancy

Early Career Chair Wanted!

First off, what does Early Careers even mean? An early career member is a “young professional”; those with 3 years or less of work experience. They receive a discounted membership rate as they get established in their career. There is no doubt that the American workforce is aging and we need to encourage young leaders to step up and lead.

The early career chair position is designed to identify early career member needs and recruit new early career members. This position will help promote the financial scholarships available through the community service chair. Participate in one college campus student fair or job fair to let them know what AGA is about and encourage them to seek the CGFM designation. Provide an "Early Career Corner" newsletter article once per quarter. Encourage early career members to participate in the Chapter.

You don't have to BE an Early Career member to hold this position; you just have to have a heart for those that will follow in the years to come. - Contact Teresa or Brandie for additional information!
