

Biography of

John Gioeli, Director of Government Programs

John Gioeli has been with Becker for over 11 years serving as the Director of Government Programs. John has over 25 years experience working with Federal Government in the areas of training, development and information resources. He is a member of the Association of Government Accountants (AGA) where he served as CGFM Regional Coordinator and a member of the American Society of Military Comptrollers (ASMC). John is also a member of The Coalition for Government Procurement.

John has been instrumental in aligning Becker Professional Education with government agencies and training centers for the sole purpose of expanding educational opportunities to government employees. John is a highly qualified professional who brings his knowledge and experience to clients in educational development. DoD, Army, Navy and Air Force, GAO, Department of Agriculture and Department of Health and Human Services are just a few of the federal agencies he works with providing education.

John has a BBA degree from CUNY, Baruch College of Business combined with many years of real world experience built on a strong foundation servicing federal government agencies.

