

Program Title	How to Thrive and Not Just Survive in the Pandemic
Location	Virtual – Zoom Webinar
Date	October 14, 2021
Start Time	12:00 pm
End Time	1:00 pm
Program Description	Are you buried or are you planted? Your perception of disruption and change can determine whether you are driving change or are being driven by change in both your personal and professional life. Although the entire world has been impacted by prolonged disruption, this training will discuss strategies to adopt or be aware of to utilize the changing environment to your advantage. The growth mindset offers strategies to avoid self-deception and blind spots and create positive habits of mind and experiences. Embracing emerging technology and adopting digital transformation can accelerate the time to access data for decision making, increase compliance and mission success. Digital transformation will empower and not displace the skilled workforce, don't be left behind. The new way to work in the future is to embrace technology as well as the new human experience to thrive and not just survive disruption of the pandemic.
Learning Objectives	Participants will learn how to embrace disruption resulting from the pandemic and maximize time management, career aspirations and adoption of emerging technology utilizing a growth mindset.
