

AGA Spring Conference Speaker Bios

Kimberly Weber

Kimberly Weber is the Executive Director of the WV Ethics Commission.

Angela Price

Angela Price is a member of the wvOASIS Finance Team. Prior to joining wvOASIS, she worked in state government as the Accounts Payable Manager at the WV Tax Department and as the Procurement Officer at the WV Attorney General's Office. While at wvOASIS her main areas of focus have been Accounts Receivable, Cost Allocations, Financial Statements, and the financial aspects of Payroll. She has previous experience working in the private sector in the healthcare industry. She graduated from West Virginia State University with a bachelor's degree in business administration with a concentration in accounting.

Jamie Chambers, MSA, CIA, CGFM, CGAP

Jamie Chambers is the Internal Auditor for the West Virginia Board of Treasury Investments. Jamie has been serving in this position since July 2023. Jamie has over 20 years of service with the State of West Virginia. Over fifteen of those years have been in auditing/internal auditing. Additionally, she has had the privilege to work in financial reporting, grants management, accounting, and college records. Jamie is an active Board member of the Charleston AGA.

Jamie holds a Bachelor of Business Administration with a concentration in Accounting from West Virginia State University and the Master's of Science in Accountancy from the University of Phoenix (online). Jamie is a Certified Internal Auditor (CIA), Certified Government Auditing Professional (CGAP), Certified Government Financial Manager (CGFM), and is currently completing the requirements to be a Certified Public Accountant (CPA).

Travis Mulanax

Travis is the Assistant Director of Operations/Training Administrator for the West Virginia State Auditor's Office Purchasing Card Division and has over 17 years of experience in the Purchasing Card industry. In his capacity as Training Administrator, Mr. Mulanax is responsible for all training associated with the Program including the training of all agency coordinators annually, biennial training of all agency cardholders, as well as managing the web-based training center that is used to certify more than 8,000 State Purchasing Card Users. Additionally, he has served on the Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) project as the State Training Lead and is a Subject Matter Expert (SME) for the State Auditor's Office Purchasing Card Division within wvOASIS. He attended Cedarville University, majoring in Mathematics, Secondary Education.

Betsy Chapman, CGFM

Betsy Chapman serves as the Director of Single Audit for the Financial Accounting and Reporting Section (FARS) of the Department of Administration's Finance Division. She is one of 12 team members that prepare West Virginia's Annual Comprehensive Financial Report (ACFR). She has worked on numerous areas of the ACFR preparation, including work papers, compilation of financial statements, editing, and presentation for the past 11 years. Betsy also directs and oversees work on the Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards (SEFA) which is a component of the State's Single Audit and is the State's Single Audit Coordinator. As a member of FARS, she oversees staff, reviews work papers, assists in preparation and teaching of closing book training for all State agencies, works with external auditors, responds to federal agency correspondence, and responds to special reporting requests from the Secretary's Office. Betsy holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting from West Virginia University Institute of Technology and has 5 years accounting experience in non-profit. She is a Certified Government Financial Manager.

Corey Wade, CGFM

Corey Wade grew up in the small town of Oak Hill, West Virginia, attending Oak Hill High School and graduating from Marshall University in 2017 with a bachelor's degree in accounting. He was the first person in his family to earn a college degree. After graduating, he spent five years as an internal auditor for the West Virginia Department of Transportation where he performed cost and compliance reviews in many different areas of the Department of Transportation and Division of Highways. A couple years into his employment with the State of West Virginia, he joined the Charleston AGA Chapter where he saw all the opportunities state government has for accountants. At this point, Corey knew he wanted a career in government and began studying to be a Certified Government Financial Manager (CGFM). Corey earned his CGFM designation in January 2023 and is now the current CGFM/Professional Certification Chair for the Charleston AGA. In this role, he leads the CGFM study group and promotes the CGFM certification.

After five years in internal audit and becoming a CGFM, Corey transitioned from auditing to financial reporting and joined the WV Department of Administration's Financial Accounting and Reporting Section (FARS) where he works with a team of 12, preparing West Virginia's Annual Comprehensive Financial Report. Corey also helps with coordinating the annual Single Audit for the State of West Virginia and provides training to state agencies on the annual closing book process. Corey has two cats, Toast and Luna, and a pet spider named Pumpkin.

John S. Gray

As a Deputy Attorney General, John brings many years of national experience to assist Patrick Morrissey fulfill his mission for the West Virginia Office of the Attorney General. As a classically trained engineer with a JD/MBA, his practice is both broad-based and multifaceted. Before starting his legal career, he worked as a registered professional mining engineer in both the coal industry and as a consultant for the U.S. EPA's CERCLA and RCRA programs. With these qualifications, my practice spans regulatory, transactional, insurance, real estate and litigation.

He has written many articles on climate change, environmental health and safety, public nuisance litigation, tort and products liability that were published in law reviews, in legal and trade publications, and in seminar materials. He is a past editor and former member of the editorial board of The Houston Lawyer magazine who authored chapters in three environmental books and was twice awarded the Burton Award for achievement in legal writing. He has spoken on numerous timely and relevant environmental topics at various seminars and meetings.

A native West Virginian and WVU alumni, he has lived and worked in many states across our nation; the majority being in Texas. After many years of practicing law in Houston, his wife and he decided to relocate back to West Virginia. He is a husband and proud father of three children -- two Eagle Scouts (one now a Marine and the other attending the USMA at West Point) and a daughter attending the University of Michigan. I have been active in the Boy Scouts and working with legal aid societies and plan to continue my community service in West Virginia.

Adam M. Carr, CPA

Adam is a Senior Manager in the Audit Department of Ernst & Young, LLP.

Robert "Rob" E. Adams, CPA, CGMA

Rob is a partner in the Brown Edwards Charleston office approaching 30 years of professional experience. He has extensive experience in financial reporting, accounting, internal control, auditing, review, compilation, and agreed-upon procedures professional services for closely held businesses including real estate, hospitality, manufacturing, retail, wholesale, media, mineral, construction, and an extensive concentration in various nonprofit organizations and state & local government entities. Rob is active in the AICPA's Governmental Audit Quality Center and the Government Finance Officers Association. Rob's experience also includes reporting under International Financial Reporting Standards and conducting audits in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and the Uniform Guidance or the Single Audit. Rob is the Firm's Central region Assurance department coordinator and a member of the Firm's Accounting and Audit Committee, Risk Management team, and the Firm's Peer Review team.