For the 2017-2018 AGA program year, we have assembled a dedicated team who are committed to ensuring that our chapter remains strong through these tough economic and natural disastrous times. Our chapter faces the challenges of membership, recruiting new board members, promoting the Certified Government Financial Manager (CGFM) certification, and promoting AGA's Citizen Centric Reporting (CCR). Through the support of our members and sponsors, we have strategically implemented ways to handle these challenges, and we will continue to do the following:

- ⇒ Foster professional development and certifications.
- ⇒ Build on our Chapter's reputation as a strong leader in the community for providing quality educational events at a reasonable cost where our members will all benefit.
- ⇒ Support standards and research to advance government accountability
- ⇒ Enhance our monthly publications to streamline the process of delivering high value content to you each month.
- ⇒ Promote networking opportunities in the financial and accounting arena
- ⇒ Promote and prepare members for the CGFM examinations and designation
- ⇒ Support and give back to the community
- ⇒ Work toward sustainable operational practices
