

For More Information:

Anna Schumann | Communications and Marketing Manager
800.AGA.7211, ext. 308 | aschumann@agacgfm.org

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MEDIA ADVISORY

AGA's Annual Financial Systems Summit Dives into Operating on Tight Budgets

WASHINGTON, DC – AGA's annual Financial Systems Summit Jan. 19 is a day-long event focusing on how federal financial systems can operate —and operate well — in a budget-constrained environment. Sessions featuring top government financial leaders will highlight issues and trends in technology, shared services, the DATA Act, cybersecurity and e-invoicing. View the full schedule.

WHAT: AGA's Financial Systems Summit. The 50-minute sessions include:

- Innovation — How Technology Can Be Used as an Enabler to Drive Strong Mission Results
- C-Suite Collaboration to Realize Cost Efficiencies — Results of AGA's Chief Information Officer Survey
- Cybersecurity — The New Norm: Learning, Information-Sharing and Readiness
- E-Invoicing Mandate: What Are My Options?

WHEN: Tuesday, Jan. 19, 2016

8:30 a.m. – 4:45 p.m.

WHERE: Grand Hyatt Washington

1000 H St. NW

Washington, D.C., 20001

WHO: Speakers include:

- Dave Mader, Controller, Office of Management and Budget
- Michelle King, Chief Financial Officer, Social Security Administration
- Luke McCormack, Chief Information Officer, Department of Homeland Security
- Melinda Morgan, Director of Finance, Department of Justice
- Marisa Schmader, Director, Department of the Treasury

RSVP: Anna Schumann